EXPERIENCE

Claremont McKenna College — Claremont, CA

Aug 2025 – Dec 2025

Corporate Finance Analyst (Course Project)

- Conducted valuation and investment analyses across multiple Harvard Business School cases, applying NPV, IRR, DCF, WACC, APV, and beta regression to assess project viability and firm value
- Built cash-flow forecasts and cost-of-capital models to evaluate capital budgeting, lease-versus-buy decisions, and long-term asset investments
- Modeled capital structure decisions—including leveraged recapitalizations and interest tax shields—quantifying impact on debt capacity, credit quality, and shareholder value
- Performed scenario and sensitivity analyses to define valuation ranges under varying market conditions, synthesizing findings into clear, recommendation-driven presentations

BRI Youth — Fremont, CA

Oct 2021 – Dec 2023

Volunteer

- Prepared and served 100+ meals weekly at a local homeless shelter and ran community food drives end to end, managing collection, sorting, and distribution
- Supported fundraising and outreach initiatives focused on youth empowerment, raising awareness and resources for local programs

PROJECTS

Financial Derivatives & Risk Management Case Studies — Claremont, CA

Jan 2026 – May 2026

Quantitative Analyst (Academic Project)

- Constructed option-pricing models using the Black-Scholes-Merton framework and multi-period binomial trees to evaluate and identify mispriced equity derivatives
- Developed a dynamic hedging strategy leveraging the Greeks (Δ , Γ , v) to immunize a corporate portfolio against sudden underlying market volatility
- Analyzed credit default swaps (CDS) and fixed-income derivatives to assess institutional credit-risk profiles and corporate debt valuation adjustments
- Simulated quantitative trade positions on historical market data in Excel, presenting data-driven portfolio recommendations to a panel of peers
